Dear Secretary of State Fontes,

I am writing to you on behalf of the America First Policy Institute, a non-profit, nonpartisan research institute dedicated to advancing policies that put the American people first, and election integrity is at the heart of this mission. As you know, pursuant to the National Voter Registration Act ("NVRA"), the states are obliged to ensure that only eligible citizens are registered to vote. As the designated chief election officer for your state, it is your responsibility to ensure the NVRA's mandate is effectuated in your state.<sup>2</sup>

Due to the failure of the Biden Administration to secure the border, it is now incumbent on officials like you to ensure that the 2024 election is not compromised by illegal aliens casting votes. Since 2021 no less than 11 million illegal aliens have entered the country. This is a population greater than that of eleven states and the District of Columbia combined, which together account for 41 electoral votes in a presidential election.<sup>4</sup>

In addition to presiding over this inflow of illegal aliens, the Biden Administration has aggravated its impact on the upcoming elections through Executive Order 14019 ("EO"). An unprecedented effort to utilize federal agencies for voter registration efforts, the EO affects many agencies that interact with illegal aliens. For example, the Marshal's Service has initiated a process to ensure those in its custody are offered the chance to register to vote. 5 Similarly, the Department of Health and Human Services is engaged in voter registration outreach<sup>6</sup> as well as the Department of Agriculture through its child nutrition programs.<sup>7</sup>

The potential impact of illegal alien votes in your state is particularly pronounced. For example, Arizona's population of just over 7,400,000 represents roughly 2.2% of the total population of the United States. If 2.2% of the 11 million illegal aliens who entered the country during the Biden Administration were to reside in Arizona, that would represent a total of 242,000; if, in turn, just 2.2% of those illegal aliens were to secure voter registrations, that would total 5,324 unlawful voters. With the 2020 election in Arizona being decided by 10,457 votes, just a handful of votes by illegal aliens in the 2024 election could have a massive impact.

Both the Arizona Constitution and Arizona Revised Statutes are explicit in stating that only citizens of the United States are entitled to vote in state elections. The law underscores the importance of safeguarding the purity of elections and preventing abuses of the elective franchise. Diluting a citizen's vote by the casting of ballots by illegal aliens would have farreaching consequences on the public's trust in your state's elections. As noted by the Supreme Court, voters "who fear their legitimate votes will be outweighed by fraudulent ones will feel disenfranchised." Furthermore, voting rights are equally undermined by the "dilution of the weight of a citizen's vote," as by the outright denial of the right to vote.

Given these legal standards and rules, it is evident that non-citizens do not have a pathway to voting under Arizona State Law. It is imperative to uphold these laws to maintain the integrity of our electoral process and ensure that only eligible citizens participate in elections.

As noted above, the NVRA obligates the states to ensure that only eligible voters cast ballots in elections. Specifically, the NVRA states that "the right of citizens" to vote is a fundamental right and that the very purpose of the NVRA is to "protect the integrity of the electoral process," and, "ensure that accurate and current voter registration rolls are maintained." These obligations—compliance with which is your responsibility as chief elections officer—extend to ensuring compliance with the Arizona Constitution's requirement that only citizens may cast ballots.

A recent federal court decision from Arizona upheld your ability to protect their citizens' votes from dilution by illegal aliens.<sup>15</sup> Specifically, Arizona law allows you to cross-reference data from multiple sources to determine a voter's citizenship status. The court upheld verifying registrations against records with the Department of Motor Vehicles, public health information ("NAPHSIS"),<sup>16</sup> and records accessed from the United States Citizenship and Immigration Service ("USCIS") through its database portal ("SAVE").<sup>17</sup>

In light of the mandates imposed by the Arizona Constitution and the NVRA to ensure that only eligible citizens are registered to vote, we hope you share our concern about ensuring the 2024 election is conducted without any dilution of lawfully cast votes.

To that end, please accept this letter as our request pursuant to the Arizona Public Record Law, Ariz Rev. Stat. Ann. §§ 39-121 et seq., for the following public records (as defined in Ariz. Rev. Stat. Ann. § 39-121.01) related to Arizona's efforts to:

- 1. ensure that only citizens are registered to vote in Arizona;
- 2. verify the citizenship status of new voter registrations;
- 3. verify the citizenship status of voter registrations processed since January 20, 2021;
- 4. utilize any available resources, including electronic databases, to verify citizenship;
- 5. verify the citizenship status of a registered voter with correspondence from federal agencies, including but not limited to data received from USCIS in relation to Form N-400;
- 6. use the SAVE program to assist with citizenship verification;
- 7. use public health information, including but not limited to NAPHSIS, to verify citizenship; and
- 8. use Arizona state records, including but not limited to motor vehicle and public benefit records, to verify citizenship.
